GIVING BACK

MULALA VILLAGE WATER PROJECT AND THE OSILIGI ORPHANAGE

What keeps bringing me back to Tanzania are the people. Since 2007 I've been traveling to Tanzania and I've been fortunate to have met and visited with many different people who have gone out of their way to share with me more about Tanzania. Not only did this include the tourism which is Tanzania's leading economic sector, I also learned about the water situation in some of the villages and more about the orphanages. In March 2015 we started The Black Giraffe Foundation and applied for 501(C)(3) status to help raise funds to support future projects in Tanzania.

The Mulala Village Water Project's goal is to raise $400,000.00 to dig a bore hole for the village. This bore hole will provide enough water for the entire village, which will save the women/kids of the village anywhere from 2-4 hours a day, as they no longer will have to walk the 1-3 kilometers each way to get fresh water. The foundation has already paid to survey the village and two spots have been identified as the best locations for a well. The foundation has met with a local bore hole drilling company and all monies spent on the well will go to the people and locally owned companies in Tanzania.

The Osiligi Orphanage is a small orphanage outside Arusha, Tanzania. As of April 2016 Michael Medoth and his wife who founded the orphanage had 14 kids in a very small home. Our goal is to raise $100,000.00 with the funds being used to help Michael finish a new home for the orphanage that will allow him to comfortably house 20 kids. The funds will also be used to sponsor the kids for the school year. For the 2016 school year (Jan-Nov) the foundation sponsored 8 year old Eden. The money was used for Eden's school uniform, books, meals, transportation, clothes, and supplies.

Every itinerary Black Giraffe Dancing Adventures creates will include a visit to the Mulala Village and the Osiligi Orphanage. You'll get to visit with Mama Anna and everyone at the village. You'll also be able to support the village by purchasing fresh roasted coffee, carvings, etc. At the orphanage you'll visit with all of the kids which is a great experience as you'll get to hear them sing and visit with them while having a soda or juice box.

I look forward to meeting you all in Tanzania!

TESTIMONIALS

REVIEWS FROM OUR PREVIOUS TRAVELERS

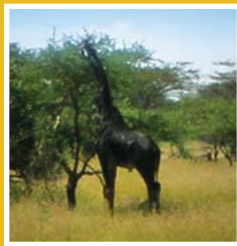

Visiting the orphanage, going to the school, meeting the children and getting to interact with them (dancing and singing!) and hearing about Mama Anna's plans to expand to a secondary school were the absolute best. The chance to help raise funds and do some charity work makes this trip a much richer experience.

We visited a school and the Mulala Village where Mama Anne and her family welcomed us with open arms sharing with us what they do in their day to day lives. The children at the orphanage sang and danced and welcomed us with the biggest smiles on their faces, a very rewarding feeling!
